

Wilson's Budget Plan

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said President Eisenhower trimmed military spending requests a year ago in anticipation of a budget-cutting mood in Congress. According to today's New York Herald Tribune.

On a Washington dispatch, Robert J. Donovan, quoted Wilson as saying he personally was dissatisfied with the size of the defense budget—$34 billion dollars—the President proposed to Congress last January for the current fiscal year. Congress cut it to $36 billion, Wilson said.

The Herald Tribune said Wilson also told Donovan by telephone from his office at Birmingham, Mo., that the White House "didn't pay enough attention to recommendations of the highest Pentagon officials."

The story continued: Wilson said the decision to separate Project Vanguard (the earth satellite program) from the military missile program was made by the President personally on recommendations of Budget Director Percival Brundage and after discussion in the National Security Council.

Far from fearing that inter-service rivalry would retard missile development, Wilson purposely "put the Army in business with the Air Force" in developing a 1,600-mile missile because of the stimulating effect of competition. However, Wilson added, "some of the people in the services get a little childish" in the things they say about one another.

The former secretary observed that some critics are trying to make him the scapegoat for the shortcomings of the missile program, but "I don't think it will stick."

The present budget was prepared by the administration in the fall and early winter of 1956. Wilson said he believed last December that the Defense Department needed more than $34 billion dollars. He did not reveal the specific figure he said he proposed to the President but indicated it was in the neighborhood of $40 billion dollars.

Wilson said the President predicted the Democratic-controlled Congress would favor budget cutting and that the President turned out to be correct.

Nevertheless, Wilson added, "I wasn't satisfied with what we got last year."

Taxi Service to Drinking Motorists

HARDWICK, Mass. (AP)—For the third year in a row, the Hardwick Police Department will offer free taxi service to motorists who drink on New Year's Eve.

Police Chief Victor N. Allard today told residents of the town: "If you have been drinking at parties call for my office and a driver will call for you and take you home. Don't spoil New Year's by being involved in an accident. We will take you home without publicity and without any record."

The Last Sundown

by L. P. HOLMES

"Don't wait for me to start crying, Ward. I'm not going to. I've been a fool but never a hypocrite."

THE STORY: In December, 1872, the Modoc Indians, long victims of the white man's greed, swooped down on Oregon settlers and killed a number of them.

CHAPTER II

With a pack mule and extra horse at lead, Ward Sebastian rode up to the Dutra cabin through a cold, blue dusk. There was a thin glow of light in the lone window of the place which served to emphasize, rather than diminish, its forlorn loneliness.

He dismounted, moved to the cabin door and knocked. There was an inner stir, then a woman's voice, calling.

"Nick?"

"No, Kitty. Ward Sebastian." Sounded the scrape of a bar being withdrawn, and then the door opened and let a rush of light strike his grave face and square, square-shouldered figure. Kitty Dutra exclaimed, "Ward! Come in!"

He entered, then stood for a quiet moment, his glance running over the meager limits of the cabin's single room.

Looking down at her, he saw the same dusky intensity in her that she'd possessed in the old days when she was Kitty McCloud. Also, he thought, much of the challenge and beauty of those days was still there.

"You always did have courage, so you know you'll show it now. Maybe there is some other and better way to say this, but I can't think of it. Kitty—Nick is gone."

"Gone? What do you mean?"

"Gone—Oh—!" She went very still, staring at him. Her voice dropped low.

"Ward, you're telling me that Nick is—dead?"

He nodded gravely.

"A Modoc raiding party. They got Pete Thurman at the same time. They had already done for Angus Laird and Ole Adams, and for George Robertson and his two boys. I couldn't think of anything to say to the womenfolk of those men, and I can't think of anything to say to you."

She turned half away, looking straight ahead, her eyes wide and unseeing.

"Where is he?"

"We buried him with Pete Thurman."

Students Warned of Rabid Dog

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—One hundred vacationing Florida Southern College students have been notified by telephone they might have come in contact with a sorority house pet dog which died of rabies.

The entire student body of about 2,000 was informed by letter that the dog died of rabies, which is fatal to humans who do not take anti-rabies treatment.

College officials said they had a report the pup might have been slipped into a physical education class.

The college already had telephoned 83 girls in two sororities and then reached the 17 members of the physical education class by telephone yesterday.

The pup was taken into a sorority house in violation of college rules and kept as a mascot for several weeks. He was taken home for the Christmas holidays by a girl student and died last Monday.

Gayle's wife, white-haired and kindly, was waiting. When she put a welcoming and understanding arm about Kitty Dutra's shoulders, there showed another crack in that bitter-hard armor. Kitty's lips trembled and a swift rush of moisture glistened in her eyes.

Sebastian left the women alone and went to the bungalow where stove was purring with heat, and he backed up to it, his hands spread behind him.

Standing so, he was a man with the limber-lean flanks, the row hips and wiry, hard-muscled legs of one much in the saddle. Whiskers stubble smudged a jaw line light drawn near to gaunt.

Under a high-bridged nose, his mouth was clean lipped, bracketed just now with lines of weariness and regret. His deep blue eyes were dulled a trifle by that same inner shadow. Now, as Sam Lester and Bob Gayle came in, he put his glance on them.

"All right, Bob, you got something to tell me?"

The old rider nodded. "Two, three things. First off, Chumchuck, he's lit out. I don't know why, I don't know where."

Sebastian, brooding, nodded slowly. "I think I do. What else, Bob?"

"Yesterday afternoon I took a ride out through the mahogany brakes just Lost Horse Rim, like you told me to. We got some cattle out there, but not as many as we did by at least half-a-dozen head, for I found what was left of them, which wasn't much. They'd been fresh slaughtered."

"You mean—slowly?"

And shoulders had been cut out. Who do you think? The military, maybe?"

"Captain Jack's people, probably. The Modocs."

A flash of anger showed in Bob Gayle's eyes.

"Scurvy devils," he exclaimed. "Chumchuck Pete would have known right where to find the cattle. Likely he was in on the slaughter!"

"Easy to say, Bob—but may be not fair. For the rules work both ways."

"Rules of what?"

"War," said Sebastian. "And that's what this is."

The old rider considered for a little time, then shrugged.

"Reckon you're right. Speakin' of such, an officer and a couple of troopers were by today. Looked everything over real sharp and important. I braced said they might have to quarter troops here, same as they have at Frank Seach's and Henry Gallatin's."

I told him he'd have to see you to get permission, and he said he didn't need permission. A real smart bucko. I felt like cuffin' him."

The ghost of a smile touched Sebastian's lips.

"If the military wants to move in on us, Bob, they'll move in. I know that. And there's nothing we can do about it. It's yawned until his jaws cracked, then started straight ahead at nothing as he solemnly added: "Things are happening in this world there's just no good answer to."

"Now," said Sam Lester. "I know what you mean. That bury in there was bad enough, but it was them poor heartbroken women who pulled me to pieces inside. Still and all, I've listened to Modoc squaws wailing their dead too. I guess human tears don't belong to one side any more than they do the other."

President Has No Intention of Resigning

By Merriman Smith

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP)—President Eisenhower has no intention of resigning.

He doesn't even think in such terms these days.

He sees no reason why he should resign.

As far as his physical condition is concerned, he feels more than adequate for the job. His doctors concur in this confidence today.

Eisenhower does not regard himself as a "part-time President," any more than the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt regarded himself as part-time because of his frequent weekends in Hyde Park, N.Y., or former President Truman and his fondness for week ends on the White House yacht or long holidays in Key West, Fla.

Such is the basic philosophy of the current Chief Executive, as he is pelted largely by Democrats and to a lesser degree, by members of his own party, for not sleeping out of office because of recurrent illnesses and frequent absences from his White House desk.

The United Press is able to report the President's attitude after long talks with some of his closer friends and administration associates who are in frequent if not daily contact with him.

The President's feelings could change with a heart flutter, but today he does not brood or think of himself as a sick man. In the

Errant Youths Get Glimpse of Prison Life

JOLIET, Ill. (UP)—Twenty youths knocking at the door to a life of crime have had a glimpse of where it could lead them.

The youths—ranging in age from 12 to 17 and all residents of nearby Aurora, Ill.—toured the Joliet branch of the Illinois State Prison Monday. They were sentenced to the tour by Justice of the Peace William Wake in Aurora last Thursday.

The unusual sentence followed a recent juvenile crime spree in Aurora and each of the 20 boys was named by authorities as having had a part in one or more of the crimes—mostly burglaries.

The youths were met at the prison gates by Warden Frank Ragen—a large man with a reputation as a peh expert. Ragen was grim-faced when he first addressed the boys by telling them to "keep orderly because we know how to handle tough guys here."

"Remember," Ragen told the young group, "all the suckers are in there." He pointed to the sprawling prison—'not out there'—he gestured to the streets of Joliet.

But the boys appeared a hardened bunch.

"We know how to handle tough guys, too," one of them said. The group was bunched together and the astonished warden couldn't discern who made the remark.

Ragen escorted the group to the prison laundry, the shoe-making shop, the maintenance room. They saw everything of note in the 11 buildings of the institution—including the isolation ward.

Ragen banged on one of the cell doors in the isolation section.

"Come on out for a minute," he said in a loud voice. "I want you to meet some people."

The door was unlocked and a pasty-faced prisoner with a blanket draped over him like a shawl appeared from the dark room. His eyes blinked at the light.

"Go ahead and talk to him," Ragen told the youths.

"How is it in there?" one of the older boys asked.

"I'm always alone," the man said. "It's monotonous and dark." He told the potential criminals he was doing time for armed robbery.

They saw a convicted murderer in the next cell. Then Ragen continued the tour, explaining the prison work schedule on the way. One of the youths appeared surprised that prisoners had jobs to perform.

"I didn't know they did so much work in jail," he said.

"What did you think they did here?" Ragen asked.

"I thought they just sat in their cells and wrote books," the boy replied.

Ragen told them after the tour was over that "if I ever see any of you again, it won't just be for a tour."

"You'll never see me again," came a voice from the crowd of youths. But authorities said many of the boys left the prison wearing the same "cynical smirks" they had upon entering.

Traffic Accidents Kill Nearly 35,000

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's traffic accidents killed nearly 35,000 persons in the first 11 months of this year, about 3 per cent lower than the 1956 toll for the comparable period.

The National Safety Council, which reported 34,880 deaths up to Oct. 1, compared to 35,770 for the same period in 1956, termed the traffic accident picture as definitely encouraging.

"The low mileage death rate reflects improved behavior by the man behind the wheel and increased effort by enforcement agencies and public officials," the Council said.

The mileage death rate—deaths per 100 million vehicle miles—up to Dec. 1 was the lowest on record for a comparable period, 5.9 against 6.1 for the first 11 months last year.

"To best serve the people of this community I maintain a stock of carefully selected merchandise. To be able to recommend the best product for every need, it is part of my training to know the standards of quality and measures that have been established by science and experience. When I order goods my selection is based on the known merits of these widely recognized standards. Then I advertise to give people the news of my store. Because I know that nearly everybody reads a newspaper I use newspaper advertising regularly. When people pay for newspapers they read them carefully for all of the news that is interesting to them. When my ads are new and contain useful information I know that people will read them because they are news."

Another fact that merchants like about newspaper advertising is that they can buy it on the basis of known values that are just as definite as the measures of weight and quality that apply to merchandise which they handle.

Businessmen cannot afford to speculate with advertising. When they buy newspaper space they can make their investments on the strength of circulation facts and figures that are verified, such methods just as it is good business to buy and sell merchandise on the basis of known standards.

This helpful information is available from reports issued by the Audit Bureau of Circulations, a cooperative, nonprofit association of more than 3,000 publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies.

At regular intervals the A.B.C., of which this newspaper is a member, sends an experienced circulation auditor to make a thorough inspection and audit of our circulation records. The FACTS established by his audit are published in an A.B.C. report which tells you: How much circulation we have; where it goes; how obtained; how much people pay for our paper; and many other FACTS that you need in order to KNOW what you get for your advertising money.

There is this difference between the two temporal blessings—health and money; money is the most envied, but the least enjoyed; health is the most enjoyed, but the least envied; and this superiority of the latter is still more obvious when we reflect that the healthiest man would not part with his money for health, but that the richest would gladly part with all his money for health. ## A Peek at What 1958 Will Bring

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Now is the time for all good men to peer into the future and see what 1958 will bring.

I shall not shrink from my annual venture into the occult, even though the risks are great and the rewards infinitesimal. (But New Year's Day columns must be written, so let's go.)

It will be a happy new year for the movie industry, oddly enough. The outlook couldn't have been darker than it was in 1957, but the film business often thrives on peril. When times are lush, quality goes down. When times are poor, everyone works like beavers to make better pictures.

Only better pictures will save the business. And those that have been projected for 1958 have the ring of excitement and prosperity about them.

This doesn't mean that it will be smooth sailing for all the film studios. Unfortunately, a few of them are still living in the past. Unless they face the facts of life, at least two studios may go under.

Elvis Presley will be drafted, as millions cheer millions of American parents, that is.

Lauren Bacall and Frank Sinatra will marry. How's that for fearless predicting?

The top winners of Academy Awards will both be British-born. That's the only hint you get for now.

"The Bridge on the River Kwai" will be the picture to beat in the Oscar sweepstakes.

"Love Will Find Lena Turner. It usually does."

"South Pacific" will be the box office winner in 1958.

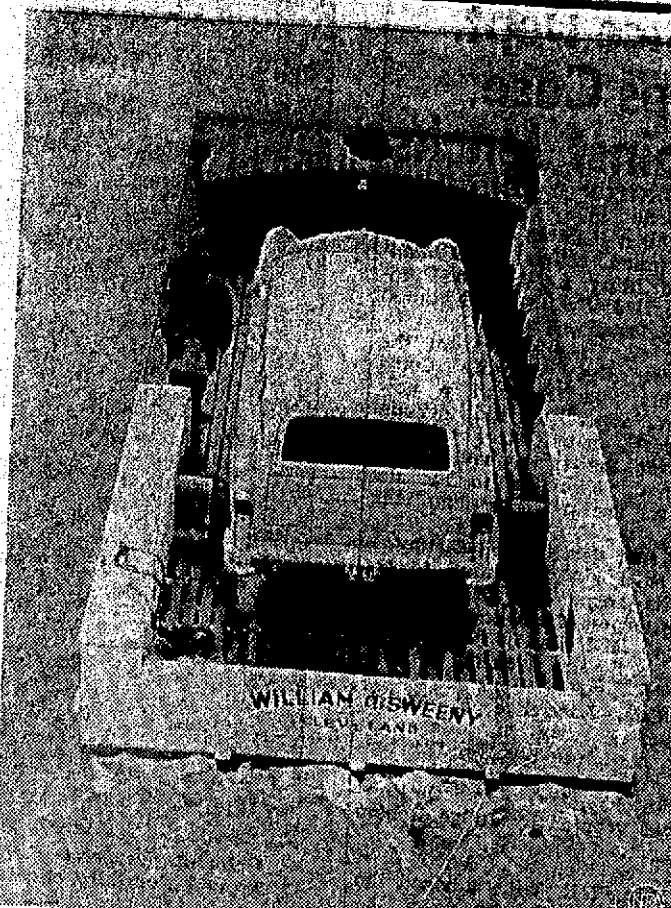

Drugs will be the movies' chief commodity. Westerns, musicals and comedies will be scarce. Since folks can get all they want on TV.

Westerns will continue to be hot as a two-buck pistol on TV; comics will make a comeback.

There will be much talk about TV but little will be done about it.

Marlyn Monroe will return to Hollywood for a movie.

Jay's Mansfield will marry.

AUTO-POWERED—The Seemobile, pictured during a shake-down cruise, will make its public debut at the Mid-America Boat Show late in January at the Cleveland (Ohio) Public Auditorium. The unique vessel, hailed as the first practical automobile-powered boat, uses any standard make of auto as across a ramp onto the boat. The rear axle is fastened to a hydraulic rack, front wheel to steering mechanism. The engine thus drives a transmission system powering a three-blade propeller. When the car is hooked up, the motorist-boatsman then simply "drives" across the water. The 31-foot boat is built by Seemobile Corp., Cleveland.

"WHO'S AFRAID OF..."—This determined, barefooted lady toadster doesn't seem the least afraid of the fierce-looking bull. It's no wonder, for Brigitte Bardot isn't in any danger at all. The bull's legs are securely tied to prevent his charging. The bull "fight" was a scene in the star's latest film, being shot at Nice, France.

14 Teams Meet in New Year's Bowl Contests

By JOHN CLARY, Press

Fourteen college football teams will clash in New Year's Day bowl games.

Oklahoma and Duke begin the fireworks before 60,000 at Miami's Orange Bowl, and a nationwide TV audience (CBS). The Sooners are a solid 10-point favorite; how that quarterback Carl Dodd is back for full-time duty after an ankle sprain during Saturday's practice.

Coach Bill Murray's Blue Devils still feel that halfback Hal Mehlhoney can undo the Sooners. He is their answer to Oklahoma's halfback Clendon Thomas. Coach Bud Wilkinson's main offensive threat.

Several hundred miles to the southwest, 30,000 will be at the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans to see if they can answer the question: How come Texas and the University of Mississippi surprised everyone this year?

Mississippi is given a three-point edge because of overall team speed, but Texas' Coach Darrell Royal feels his defense will take care of that. NBC will televise.

Probably the day's most interesting game will be in Dallas, Cotton Bowl, where 75,000 when Navy and Rice go at it. Navy is a one-point favorite, which doesn't mean to much to Coach Eddie Eddatz who feels the loss of Midfielder guard Tony Stremic might cost Navy the game. Stremic is not definitely out of the game but a badly bruised shin will limit his effectiveness as a middle guard, at least. On the other side, Rice has reserve quarterback Frank Ryan, back for the first time since the early part of the season, to back up All-American King Hill.

The game will be telecast (CBS) Ohio State's 20-point paper advantage over Oregon has diminished to a degree the usual luster of the Rose Bowl, but Oregon's Len Canova is quick to point to the record of not losing by more than seven points in any of his team's three losses.

The Ducks have Don Clark, their leading ground-gainer, back for the first time since mid-November, and Bob White, the man who took his offensive burden that gained Ohio victories over Iowa and Michigan.

The game, before the usual 100,000 sellout, will be telecast by NBC.

At El Paso, Tex., Drake (7-1), and Louisville (6-1) tangle in the Sun Bowl while in Houston, Texas Southern (7-3) and Prairie View (6-3) meet before 20,000 in the Prairie View Bowl.

The last bowl game of the day, a night affair in the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Fla., features Mississippi Southern (4-1) and East Texas State (6-1).

Kansas Hands K-State Its First Setback

By ED CORRIGAN, The Associated Press

Will (The Still) Chamberlain may not be a one-man team, but he'll do until one shows up.

The seventh All-American team's total — last night in Kansas' 79-65 victory over Kansas State in the final of the Big Eight Tournament in Kansas City.

Not only was he the big man in the scoring department, but he controlled both backboards.

So Kansas State went down to its first defeat of the season, and Kansas, one rung ahead of third place State in this week's Associated Press poll, swept to its 10th triumph in a row.

Three other major tournaments were settled last night, and there was one big surprise. Memphis State, a decided underdog, captured the Sugar Bowl title by edging previously undefeated Maryland 47-46.

The battle went to three overtime periods before Bog Swander hit for a field goal and two free throws to pull it out for Memphis State.

Temple, a fast-breaking outfit and possibly the best in the East, sailed past California 69-59 for the Holiday Festival championship in New York. The Owls came up with a top candidate for All-American honors, Guy Rodgers, who was voted the most valuable player in the field.

Iowa had trouble with Syracuse but came out on top in the title game, 58-52, in the Queen City Tournament in Buffalo.

Cincinnati and Michigan State, who had been fondly hoped to go to the top in the "national" rankings, tasted defeat for the first time.

Bradley hit a hot streak and whipped Cincinnati 79-73 in a Missouri Valley game in Peoria while the upstart young Huskers of the University of Washington, behind Doug Smart's 23 points, downed Michigan State 71-60.

Elsewhere, high-ranked Kentucky rolled over Loyola of Chicago 79-42; Michigan defeated Arizona 69-76; Drake scored a 73-56 Missouri Valley triumph over North Texas State and Minnesota smothered Yale 74-53.

The only changes in the top ten saw San Francisco replace Maryland in sixth place with Maryland dropping to seventh and Mississippi State advancing to ninth while Kentucky fell a peg to tenth.

Girl Fleeing From Police Causes Death

NEW YORK (AP)—Fleeing from police at 100 miles an hour in a stolen car, a 16-year-old high school girl smashed into the rear of a sports car yesterday, killing its driver. She suffered only a cut lip.

The girl, Christine Nystrom, was charged with vehicular homicide and grand larceny. Richard H. Sperling, 47, Newtown, Conn., was killed instantly in the wreck. His car "was spread all over the road," said Richard Crawford, a Westchester parkway patrolman.

Crawford spotted the girl, a youth church council president at Mount Vernon, N.Y., who had been picked up by police three times in two years, at a toll booth on the Hutchinson River Parkway in the Bronx.

Crawford said he tried to stop her but she sped away in a new convertible. Crawford said he chased her for a quarter of a mile at more than 100 miles an hour.

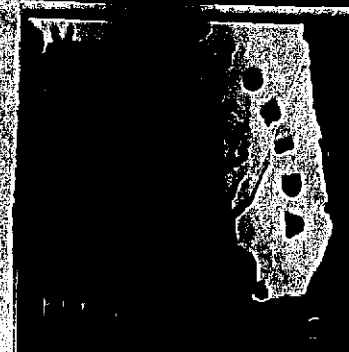

"I saw she couldn't hold the road," Crawford said. "She was going from side to side. I knew there was no sense causing her to drive faster, so I slowed down, hoping she would."

She didn't and the convertible lurched over three times after hitting Sperling's car, apparently in trying to miss a third car. Christine, crawling from the overturned car and started running but an unidentified woman caught her.

The girl was dressed in a red nylon zipper jacket, blue jeans and bobby socks. Her father, Fred, a machine parts company executive, said she was an excellent student. "Nothing she's ever done can explain this," he said.

Sperling is survived by a widow and a son, 13.

Deaths Continue Upward Trend

WASHINGTON (AP)—Deaths from influenza and pneumonia numbered 566 in the week ending Dec. 21, a slight increase over 542 in the preceding week, but a continued drop in new cases of Asian influenza.

Reporting last night, the U.S. Public Health Service also said deaths from all causes in 4 cities during the week rose to 1,997 from 1,971 the previous week.

The service also reports from the states that a decreasing incidence of influenza throughout the country was noted. The incidence of deaths from all causes was also decreasing for each geographic area except the New England, Middle Central and mountain regions.

You Can Now Join Black-Peas Asso.

TAULOCK, Tex. (AP)—The National Black-Peas Assn. of America, Inc., will start off 1958 by throwing open its membership to anyone in the world. "The only prerequisite," said Asst. President Elmore R. Tomlinson, "is that you be a member of the Black-Peas Assn. of America, Inc., and devoted to furthering the cause of eating black-eyed peas on New Year's Day."

Take Guests Keys on New Years

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP)—Confiscate your guests' automobile keys on New Year's Eve, Police Chief Leon E. Coleman advises hosts. "The survival of the guests 'may rest in the pocket of the party giver,'" Coleman said, "so keep the keys until the guests are able to drive home."

The average-size American farm consists of 242.2 acres.

Farm Prices Stronger at End of Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farm product prices wound up 1957 about three per cent higher than at the start of the year.

But virtually all this gain was offset by an increase of about 2.9 per cent in the prices of goods and services farmers buy in producing their products and in supplying their families.

An Agriculture Department report issued last yesterday put the farm price level in December at 242 per cent of the 1910-14 base average compared with 235 per cent a year ago. The record high was 313 per cent set in February 1951.

On the whole, prices of crops were lower at the end of the year than at the beginning. But most livestock and livestock products were higher. These differences largely reflected the fact that crop supplies increased during the year, while livestock numbers decreased.

Measured by another standard, farm prices at the end of the year were at 81 per cent of parity, the same as at the beginning.

The price report gave no estimate of farm income for the year. But with price increases being largely offset by higher farm costs, the indications were that the income from marketings would be about the same as last year. But government payments—reflecting increases under the soil bank and retirement program—will be larger.

Hillary's Group 150 Miles From Pole

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP)—Sir Edmund Hillary's party trekked to within nearly 150 miles of the South Pole today in its overland hike through antarctic wastes.

Hillary's latest radio message to Scott Base, his camp near McMurdo Sound, was picked up here. It said the four-man tractor team covered another 44½ miles during the night and was traveling at an altitude of 11,000 feet at 23 below zero Fahrenheit.

Hillary is now retracing the 200-mile stretch covered by Capt. Robert F. Scott on his ill-starred attempt to reach the pole in 1911. The Scott party perished on the return trip and no one has made the overland trek since.

The report was given by proxy since Dr. Elegen is still in Greece.

U. S. Group Discovers 3000 Year-Old Palace

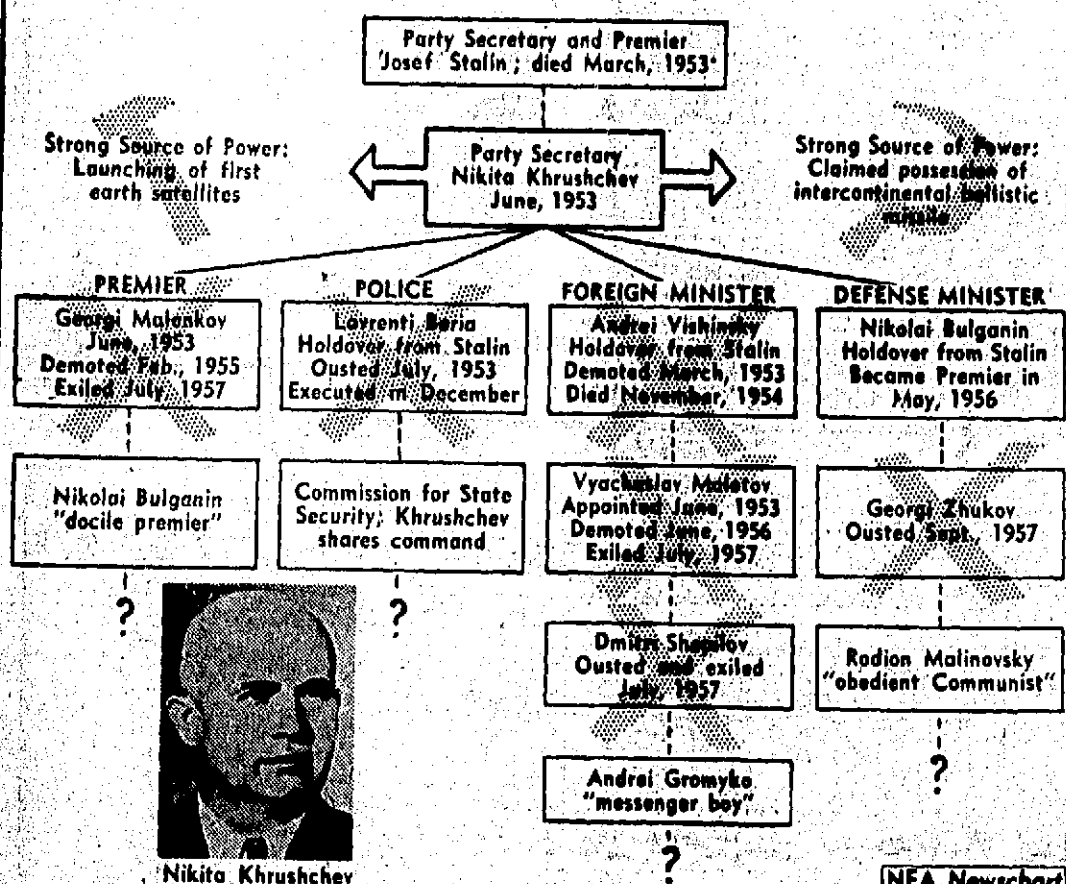

CINCINNATI (AP)—An archaeological team from Cincinnati University has discovered a royal tomb and a new wing at the storied 3,000-year-old palace of King Nestor near Pylos, Greece.

That's the report yesterday by Dr. Carl W. Blegen, professor emeritus of classical archaeology at UC and leader of the expedition.

He reported to the Archaeology Institute of America, meeting in Washington, that the tomb produced an unusual find—four big pottery jars each holding a complete skeleton—never before seen in Mycenaean tombs of this era. Dr. Blegen said the tomb held gold ornaments and other trappings of a well-off royal family, and said it may be the tomb of King Nestor, Nestor's father.

The report was given by proxy since Dr. Blegen is still in Greece.

KING OF THE MOUNTAIN

UNDISPUTED RULER?—Since the death of Josef Stalin, who held dictatorial sway over Russia for a generation, one man has step by step removed every obstacle to securing for himself the role vacated by Stalin. Newschart shows how Nikita Khrushchev, as Communist Party Secretary, has had potential rivals demoted, ousted, exiled and even executed, and has reduced the power of the most important posts in the Soviet government. The most recent ouster, that of "too popular" war hero Georgi Zhukov, may have eliminated Khrushchev's last serious contender.

Mr. and Mrs. Franks Entertain Couples Club

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Franks were hosts to the Couples Bridge Club at their home on Saturday evening. The color theme of green and gold was carried out in the decorations. Candle arrangements were placed at vantage points in the living room and sun room and a kissing ring was placed in the doorway. In the dining room the table was spread with a Christmas cloth centered with a ceramic Santa in a Christmas tree. A green arrangement topped the buffet.

High score awards were won by Mrs. Earl Eppler and Clyde Hesterly.

Other members included Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Gray, Mrs. Hesterly and Mr. Eppler. A sandwich course was served at the close of the games.

Mrs. Hirst Entertains

Mrs. O. G. Hirst entertained her house guests, Mrs. C. D. McSwain of El Dorado and Mrs. Matt Hill of Dallas, Texas with an informal bridge party at her home on Thursday afternoon. The rooms were festive in their holiday decorations that included red carnations on a cocktail table, camellias on the dining table and a potted poinsettia in the den. The mantel held a beautiful arrangement of gold leaves and ornaments. An ornate tree was placed on a table. The high score award was won by Mrs. Tom Bonis. A sandwich course was served.

Others present included Mrs. J. B. Bemis, Mrs. D. L. McRae Jr., Mrs. H. H. McKenzie, Mrs. J. H. Bonis, Mrs. Clarke White, Mrs. Wallace Pemberton, Mrs. Frank Gilbert and Mrs. Harold Simpson of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Dalrymple Have Open House

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dalrymple, Miss Katherine Buchanan and Miss Sally Rand held open house at the Dalrymple home on Thursday evening.

Many red Christmas bells on the front porch wall and a Christmas wreath on the door made a gala entrance. Green and gold decorations were used in the interior. Christmas angels flanked the fireplace and gold and green decorations were placed on the mantel and other points in the entertaining rooms.

Refreshments were served from a revolving table laid with an aqua cloth with gold threads. Gold poinsettias and candles formed the centerpiece.

Thirty guests called during the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bemis were the holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Johnston of Shreveport.

Mrs. Clara Wichard and Miss Betty Wichard of Little Rock were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Coleman and on Sunday they were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Estes of Gurdon.

Mrs. C. D. McSwain has returned to El Dorado after a visit with Dr. and Mrs. O. G. Hirst and other relatives.

Mrs. Matt Hill of Dallas, has returned home after a visit with Dr. and Mrs. O. G. Hirst and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. McMahon and Betty Jane of Waldron have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Eppler.

Mrs. C. R. Gray has returned to Newport after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Gray Jr. and was accompanied by her grandchildren Jimmy and John Gray.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Green and son of Odessa, Texas were the Thursday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Brodie Haynie.

This Idea Should Be Put to Use

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Officials hope one New Year's Eve idea is put to good use tomorrow night in Phoenix.

Safety buses will be available on a charter basis to groups of 40 or more celebrants shuttling to and from New Year's Eve parties.

Carl Rawlings, city superintendent of Phoenix's port authority, has pledged wholesale support of the proposal by the Phoenix Elks Lodge 335.

So has Police Chief Charles P. Thomas.

Massachusetts is the second largest state in the production of rubber products. It has 103 rubber establishments.

An industrial field worth cultivating

Agricultural processing has long been regarded as an industrial field worth cultivating in Arkansas. However, there are many problems to solve before processing plants can be made to flourish. The ground for such plants must be carefully prepared with scientific studies. Supply, potential markets, transportation, competition and many other factors must be determined. The AIDC is assisting with a study designed to increase Arkansas' yield from agricultural processing.
